Re: Fisher v. Receivables Performance Management, LLC ("RPM")
Case No. 7:21-cv-7715

Dear Judge Halpern:

This court entered an Order permitting the extension of discovery by one week so the deposition of the plaintiff could be conducted. Plaintiff was requested to appear on March 7, 2022 to appear for deposition. Plaintiff never confirmed a time for him to appear at the deposition. On March 4, 2022, I sent an email to plaintiff's counsel requesting that he confirm a time for his client to appear and I received no response.

Defendant respectfully requests that the Court order the plaintiff to appear for deposition by March 14, 2022 and that should plaintiff fail to appear, defendant is entitled to seek R. 37 sanctions. Extending discovery for one further week to complete the deposition will not affect any court date as fact discovery is due to be completed March 16, 2022. Thank you for your consideration

Respectfully submitted,

PETER CIPPARULO, III

cc: Tamir Saland, via ECF

In light of Plaintiff's representations (see Doc. 24), application denied without prejudice to renew.

The Clerk of the Court is respectfully directed to terminate the motion sequence pending at Doc. 22.

SO ORDERED.

Philip M. Halpern
United States District Judge
